“ Alice was my friend before she was my sister-in-law. Gale came home from the Marines, met my friend, and a long, happy journey began. They had their difficulties, but you know, I can't remember a time when she didn't have a smile on her face. Gale too. I always kind of envied something between them that is rare. Something like from an old song that said 'we don't have much, but we have each other'. I liked Alice, and I'll miss her.

“ There are so many memories we shared growing up together. The ones that we shared is all the LOVE we had as a family. We protected each other from harm. When someone needed us, we all were there. We grieve in our own way. I'm so sorry to your family for this great loss. Alice you're in Heaven now with family we had lost. You will be the greatest Guardian Angel to watch over your family. I LOVE & Miss you, Your SISTER Adeline.

“ I have so many memories of my beautiful sister Alice. I wish I could share them all. When we were younger, we would play in an empty grassy lot next to our house. We played a game where we would stuff and old sock with rags. We would tie it to the end of the rope and swing it as high as we could above our head. The object of the game was to try to run under the rope without getting hit with the sock. Then we would have to run back out without getting hit. When it was Alice's turn, she would swing that rope so fast you could almost hear it whistle. We usually always made it under but when it was time to run back out, she was so quick with that rope that she would hit you wherever she could or she would get you around the legs with it and down you'd go. She would laugh like anything. I can still picture her swinging that sock around and laughing at us.
