“ I grew up knowing Christine, Charolette and Wayne from the early 60’s. As time went on and I got my license and a car we spent many days just riding around and visiting people we knew taking us all to school.

As the years went by and we grew into adulthood we spent many nights at different places learning new line dances most of which I learned from Christine.

The whole family has taken big chunks out of my heart now that they’re gone but I know we’ll all rejoice one day soon.

I miss and love you all!
