“ I started going to First Methodist Church and Sunday School in 2000. Miss Dolores was in my Sunday School class and she and Mr. Jim both took me under their wings and made me extended family. Soon, after, Dolores asked me to rush in Beta Sigma Phi and even though I was a "Pinkie," she asked me to join. In doing so, she introduced me to a sisterhood that will never cease. Dolores was not only my sorority sister, but a surrogate mom and mentor. She was (and always will be to me), the epitome of grace, compassion, and kindness. We laughed a lot and sometimes we cried, but being with her was always a time of knowing you were loved. I loved hearing her expound on her political beliefs as well as having her occasionally walk through her genealogical history. For those who don't know, she and hers are descended from royalty and she loved being able to share her very rich history and genealogy. Not only was she a queen to those who knew and loved her, but Dolores, was truly what Proverbs 31 is all about. I love her and know that she will always be just a whisper away.
