“ Mrs Moore I'm going to miss you at Eastgate you was my favorite. I looked forward to seeing you everyday when you was here and waiting for you to come back when you was gone. I grown attached to you from the day you came. I didn't work the hall but I gave you your showers and whirlpools. I'm praying for your husband daughter and son. May that have peace in their heart that you're no longer hurting. You'll always be my mrs Moore.

“ Never a truer friend. God truly blessed us with her. From being a part of babysitter to our children and living by what she believed. Always something to eat no matter how little they had. DeWayne was talking to me about going to Johnny's grandparents and playing. He never felt he was not part of the family. What a heart of love even in times that were trying. Faith was a virtue of hers. The love she held for everyone made her dear to our hearts. It was definitely an honor to be a friend of hers. Love and prayers to your family. DeWayne and Ona Goodman
