“ I miss you so much, how am I going to live without you. I want you back the way you were before that terrible disease got hold on you. You look so natural setting in that seat. How many times did I see you there??? I wish you could come back and be with me forever, but I know you can't, at least now you are back with your mom and dad. I hope you are at peace and not hurting now. That is what keeps me going, knowing that. I will always love and miss you. One day I will be with you again, until then I will struggle along without you.
