“ I met Remer ten years ago. We worked at the same facility, and I seemed to run into him all over the place away from work. A very solid guy, easy to talk to, and a great family man. He will be missed. Men of his caliber don't come along very often.

“ I met Jim as an intern with the Chicago District Evangelistic Assoc q(Ignite Church Planting). He was enthusiastic, teachable, personable and represented Christ well. I've watched him.in ministry from a distance. While I rejoice in his "newness in Christ," he will be deeply missed.

“ Jim was my friend. We shared many laughs, trials and adventures over the almost 40 years we knew one another. One memory leads to another, and each leaves me with a sense of longing and nostalgia for days passed by, and sadness for a friend now gone.

However, I know that Jim is finally where he was created to be... In the presence of his Creator. I can hear him now... "Craig, this is INCREDIBLE!!! There are no words to describe it all! Stop with the sadness already!" Well Jim, although my limited human perspective compels me to be sad, thankfully my spiritual faith compels me to rejoice! I find it so fitting that your last post was "I'm here"... Yes, Jim, you have indeed arrived. Welcome home, brother! I've no doubt you now know the fullness of God's "Hesed" my friend, and that is so awesome.

Jim, I will continue to hold fast to the hope that we shared in Jesus. I am looking forward to being reunited in His glory, and resuming our adventures for all of eternity. What a day that will be. Until then, I will cherish the memories of the friendship that God blessed us with here on earth.

I love you, brother.
