“ I worked with Jesse at Hastings a few years ago. He is an amazing person, coworker, and friend. There was never a dull moment when he was around! He was always laughing and being merry, always positive. His attitude was catchy. He led by example to do the best you can do and never to give up. I had talked to him briefly since then, but we lost contact over the years, but I thought Of him occasionally and wished him well. I have no doubt that he fought as hard as he could for as long as he could, especially with all the support he had. My heart and healing thoughts go out to Kristen and their daughter, as well as the families. I have lost a family member to cancer and I know “I’m so sorry” isn’t enough, but I truly wish the families peace and comfort during their healing.

“Fearless is what comes to mind when I think of Jesse. He fought the good fight. He did it for his precious wife and daughter, then he fought for his dad, mom, and brothers. He fought for his church family. No one has fought harder in this battle for life. God had other plans, none of which any of us left here that have witnessed this battle can understand. Jesse was fearless in his approach to tell you about his Savior. The example he has set for all that knew him is simply astonishing. We have suffered a loss that is unimaginable to us at this present time but we know that Jesse is and forever will be with his LORD and SAVIOR - never to suffer again. We have to trust in this promise:

1 Corinthians 2:9

*“No eye has seen, no ear has heard,
and no mind has imagined
what God has prepared for those who love him.”*
