“ Larry & I went to school together at the old Central High School. Didn't really get to know him though til we reconnected later on at Brockway when he came to work up on the furnace where I worked. He was a good, hard working employee! I loved talking to him and we went through some harrowing times during power failures together. He was always talking about Wanda, the love of his life and how she bought the right foods and made sure he ate right for his diabetes. What a super great guy!
