“ Loren was a longtime client and friend. We had many talks through the years and I sold him several houses. He was extremely intelligent and always a gentleman. He missed his wife when she passed so much. He said she was his best friend. He felt inadequate in trying to raise his two daughters. He loved his girls and bragged on them in every conversation. I shared my faith in Jesus with him. He was an only child and called me his sister. My prayers to his family. I'm glad Loren was a part of my journey.
