“ She gave me such love and support and we had reconnected over the last 10 years or so after drifting apart and taking such different roads in our lives. I like to think that I share her and Donna's compassion, empathy and caring nature that they show to others. I was upset and surprised to find that she had gone to the states for love but terribly happy that she found her soul mate and was content and settled, she deserved nothing less. My memories consist of music and dancing in the lounge to the old record player and having such fun, then as I got older, I was given the honor of babysitting Donna and Jimmy and having sleepovers. They were good times. She loved with her whole heart and I always cherished her hugs she may have been tiny in stature but her hugs were all encompassing and full of love and always made one feel special. There is always going to be a piece missing from my heart that only she can fill but I know that we will all be together again one day with the rest of the family. I take comfort in knowing that she is in a place where she is no longer confused or in pain and that her body is free to be able to dance once again. I love you then, I love you now and I always will. Sleep well my love. Jenni Christie. xxx

“ I will remember your romance blooming into the depth of the love between your spirits and His. I will remember how Maggie cared for it, asked about it, treasured it, and clung to it throughout her illness - - even at the end, holding your hand. I will remember her bright eyes and beautiful smile. I will remember your dedication to honoring your love and your God through your wife, Tim. I ask comfort for those grieving -- for you, her family and friends. I rejoice with you that she is whole now, and with her Lord and Savior. May the peace of the Holy Spirit hold your heart and guide your steps back to the new life God has for you. Love, Sharee (Stokes) Wells
