“ I can remember Faye playing cards, she would play cards with my mom and dad, Linda and Leamon Webb, They would play a card game if I remember correct called smutt, every time one of them lost they would get the kerosene lamp and use the wick to get black on their fingers and had to smudge it under the eyes etc. needless to say one night Faye had both under eyes black, I laughed because she looked like she was ready to play football, you just had to see her it was funny
