“ *Beloved Friend Pat,
We shared so much - our love of books, great films, crafts, the arts, good food and drink, your husband and my friend and neighbor, Paul Green (who introduced us), and lots and lots of laughter. When you moved to Oklahoma from Denver I felt bereft, until I realized you did just the right thing for yourself and your loving family. God, what a blessing that turned out to be for all of you!*

In my life I have never known anyone who suffered through critical illnesses, one after another, as you did, and still fought for life with steely tenacity. But now you rest somewhere in a better, more peaceful world, out of the pain that robbed you of a better end.

When I get to the other side, baby girl, please have some margaritas waiting for us - good quality booze, not too much ice, and an extra slice of lime for me.

I love you.
