“Eva Vassar and I always looked forward to our long visits with Janie and her husband. They knew a lot about life back in the day in Pine Hollow Settlement, about four miles south of Keefeton, as the crow flies. No finer people on the planet than The Harrisons....honest, kind, full of quiet courage and productivity....First Class Citizens! After Mr. Harrison passed, we tried to keep; up with Janie. Eva always spoke of dear friendship in Christmas wishes from Seattle; then when Eva became ill she would ask me to mention her to Janie in my card. WE express our gratitude to the family for taking such good care of this dear one.....now, you can rest and let God take the reins. There is a reunion in heaven, this week! And, if there is a shade tree nearby, you can bet The Harrisons and Eva are laughing, having a cool drink, and remembering the good times. My paternal grandmother Willa Johnston Wilson of the Valley View Ranch two miles south of Keefeton used to tell me stories of the rich friendships among those great people from Keefeton. As I heard the stories, I could only use my imagination for what they were like. Then, I met the Harrisons and knew exactly what my grandmother had tried to explain to me. I would expect my grandmother to be at that reunion, as well, celebrating lives well lived.

Some of the kindest, honest people I've known. I attended Keefeton Assembly with them. So genuine, I was truly blessed to have known them.
