“ Mary & Family:

May God bless and keep you all in this time of grief. May memories of the good times comfort you all.

We were privileged to be your neighbors for many years on Marietta Street. Our children and your children played and grew up together. We remember Troy as being a very good and loving family man. May God touch you with his love and comfort you in your loss.

“ The first time Troy and I really sat down and talked was when we had family vacation at Lake Tenkiller. Up until that time I think maybe he had spoke 10 words to me when we were alone. I had sunburned my forehead and had to stay back while everyone else went out on the boat. Troy Lee and I sat underneath the trees and we started talking about birdwatching. He did not stop talking for an hour. I can remember like it was yesterday because it was one of the most enjoyable, poignant, moments of my life. I enjoyed it immensely and he will never be forgotten, because of that time, in my heart. In a big family it is fun when everyone is laughing and talking, but I will miss our talks when it was just us two, and the room was quiet.
