“ I have so many fond memories of William Earl. We attended the same church for many years. He had a sweet spirit, a kind voice and a smile for everyone who walked thru the doors of the church. I always enjoyed his gift of playing the bass guitar and singing. He was a good man with a kind heart. Anyone that knew him was proud to call him a friend.

“ I have too many memories of William to list them all here. He was the greatest Sunday School Teacher I have ever known. He was more than my friend. He was a confidant, christian mentor and brother. I'm sure lots of people feel this way because that is how William was with everyone. I remember playing games at their house when they lived out at the college. The parties at the church, especially when we played beat the pan. William loved people and having fun. I worked with William for a year at Carbonex Coal Company North of Porum. If William had any flaws it had to be that he was not a "morning" person. I'd have to have the coffee ready when he got there and you didn't talk to him until he had a cup. ha ha. My time with him was wonderful. We played tennis together out at the college and went to an OU game one time. You were more than a friend to William. You were family and he loved you. I wish I had spent more time visiting with him. He always told me if anyone ever did you wrong or treated you badly or used you in a bad way, that you should always "Kill them with kindness". William was a major inspiration in my life. He sang a song for me in church several times when I would request it. A song by The Inspirations, I Found A Treasure. He has found his treasure at last. Now rest sweet William. I wish I could tell you how much I will miss you and how much I love you! Steve Ashmore
